Dear Valued Smiths Medical Customer,

Improving healthcare around the world is the foundation of our mission, and during this time of uncertainty, we understand our Jelco® hypodermic needles are needed more than ever. In order to meet the increased demand, we are taking steps to ramp-up our supply production, including temporarily narrowing the number of items with focus on key items that will help serve your patient needs.

Below is a list of items that are temporarily unavailable until further notice, with the associated substitution suggestions. At this time, the below items are the only hypodermic products impacted. We will continue to evaluate current inventory status and will provide updates if there are any changes. Please consult your Smiths Medical representative if assistance is required in selecting appropriate substitutions.
