Introduction

The National Ambulance Uniforms and General Workwear framework delivers core uniform garments and general workwear items for the ambulance service.

The agreement has had extensive input from key stakeholders across the NHS, including the National Ambulance Uniform User Group, made up of frontline paramedics and operational staff, heads of procurement, infection control leads, and equality, diversity and inclusion leads from a wide range of geographical ambulance trust locations.

This continual input from stakeholders has helped ensure that the garments delivered meet the requirements of those who wear them.

Size charts

Customers can locate the size charts for each of the garments and general workwear items in the supplier matrices, located on the contract information page.

Made to Measure garments (lot one)

Cooneen tailor custom core uniform garments on request. This service is for use in specific circumstances, such as where the sizing required differs to the size charts provided in the customer launch packs.

For specific Made to Measure (MTM) requirements, please contact Cooneen.

Lead times depend on the specific product and freight partner used. Generally, MTM goods that can only be produced in the factory where bulk products are manufactured, take between 6-12 weeks. Some garments can be altered in the UK and can be available within 5 working days.

Maternity wear (lot two)

This service is specifically for maternity wear, where the sizing required differs to the size charts provided in this brochure.

For specific maternity wear requirements, please contact the suppliers. Details for all suppliers are located on page 22 of this brochure.

Lead times generally vary depending on the specific product.
