

Nationally Contracted Products (NCP) procurement outcome:

NCP Blunt Fill Drawing Up Devices procurement activity achieves 14% (£210,000)* national savings opportunity

Summary

Blunt Fill Drawing Up Devices are made up of two types - needles with filter and without filter. Since 2017, the products had been part of an NCP which delivered significant savings. The NCPs were based on having two providers for each product type on a 70-30 split arrangement.

To generate further increased competition and allow new entrants to the market it was decided not to re-run the NCP at contract renewal for Blunt Fill Drawing Up Devices. However due to current market dynamics such as increased volume and supply capacity capability we wanted to optimise this sub-category.

The aim of this NCP is to provide savings. There is also a focus on supply chain resilience as the award criteria for this NCP specifically included the ability for suppliers to evidence approximately eight weeks of stock holding within 48 hours of the UK. This will be in addition to the eight weeks worth of stock NHS Supply Chain will hold, further enhancing stock levels.
